

The Online Integrated Textbook Management Service EUDOXUS is an online service for the immediate and integrated provision of textbooks to students of Universities and Technological Educational Institutes (TEI) nationwide.

Students can visit the EUDOXUS website [1] to obtain information about the available textbooks for each course and directly declare and receive the textbooks they need.

Students can access the EUDOXUS website by using their institutional user account. Users who have not received their login details or experience other access problems should contact the Secretariat of their University Unit (School or Department) or the University Network Centre.
